Experience

John Smith has a no nonsense attitude about structural engineering. In his twenty-two years of project management and design, John has consistently delivered cost-effective designs in all the building materials, as well as numerous project types including commercial, residential / mixed-Use, medical / laboratory, parking structures, retail facilities and renovation projects. Over the years, he deliberately included project design duties in his role as project manager at large and reputable firms in the Seattle Area. This has enabled him to deliver maximum value to the broad range of clients that he serves.

John's strengths are his creativity, attention to detail, communication skills and team attitude.
